POOL LICENSE STIRS WARM DEBATE

OPPOSING FORCES AT CITY HALL TRUSTEES STAND ON REFUSAL; CURFEW ORDINANCE IS GIVEN ITS FIRST READING.

Monday night's meeting of the city trustees called out the largest gathering that has assembled at the city hall for some time. Most of the audience came expecting a "warm session," because it had been noised abroad that the matter of granting a transfer of Tony Bildhauer's poolroom license, a petition for which was refused at the meeting of June 14th, would come up for a rehearing. Nobody was disappointed who came through such an expectation, for the meeting was the "warmest" that has taken place at the city hall for many moons.

The Ball Opens

The ball opened when Mr. Bildhauer presented a plea for a rehearing on his application, refused a week before. Mr. Bildhauer was followed by the Rev. Daniel Stevens, who prefaced his remarks by presenting a letter from the Woman's Club protesting against the granting of any more licenses for pool halls in the city. Mr. Stevens voiced a similar protest, declaring that though he had nothing against Mr. Bildhauer personally, he did protest against any more pool halls for South San Francisco, and that this is what the transfer of Bildhauer's license would amount to, as C. T. Connelly, the owner of the pool hall Bildhauer has been conducting, expected soon to resume the place's management. Mr. Stevens had scarcely finished when Bildhauer was on his feet again. Within half a minute the man had killed any chance he had had to get what he wanted by his blustering, bullying manner. He declared, "We have men to run our city government; no help is needed from the Woman's Club." The challenge in the man's words and manner promptly brought out a champion for the club in the person of J. G. Walker, who in emphatic terms reminded Bildhauer that the women had the same right to a voice in the city affairs that he or any other man had. The discussion was indulged in by several other speakers, Bildhauer inserting a choice oratorical effort whenever and wherever possible. The matter ended by Chairman Holston sternly rebuking Bildhauer for his words and manner and the board members unanimously voting to stand pat on their action of the week before in refusing the pool hall man the transfer he asked. Incidentally the discussion brought out allegations that gambling is being carried on in many pool halls in South San Francisco, and the suggestion that all pool halls be compelled to put clear glass in their front windows and to tear out the card rooms in the rear of their quarters.

Curfew Ordinance Read

The "curfew ordinance," decided upon some months ago, was introduced by City Attorney Coleberd and received its first reading. It will go to its second reading at the next meeting of the council and will be effective thirty days later.

Pala to Rebuild

A resolution was passed granting Peter Pala permission to rebuild the Central Hotel, recently damaged by fire, to a height of two stories, on condition that he build the south wall of brick or concrete eight inches thick; that the part of the structure projecting over Division street be removed, and that he conform to the act of the legislature governing building

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AFTER NEW MEMBERS

Plan Being Worked Out to Have the Chamber Maintain Permanent Exhibit at City Hall.

The South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce wants more active members among the local business men, and proposes to take steps within the near future to increase its membership roll. The Chamber is doing good work to increase the industrial prestige of this city and has taken an active part in furthering the best interests of the town in every way possible, and many of the members assembled in regular session at the city hall last Tuesday night expressed their opinion in emphatic terms that more of the business interests of the town should be taking an active part in its meetings and in its work, as every one of them is benefiting from its labors. Within a few days the merchants will be given an opportunity to become active members of the organization.

There was an unusually large gathering of members at Tuesday night's meeting. The discussion over the apathy toward the Chamber shown by some of those engaged in business in the town was the main topic of interest, but other matters came up for discussion.

There is a plan now on foot which, it is believed, will greatly enhance the potency of the Chamber. This is to have the organization occupy one of the rooms in the new city hall when that structure is ready, and to keep on permanent display an exhibition that will set forth the industrial, commercial, and residential advantages of the town. It is the plan to have a young lady on duty all the time at the exhibit to answer questions, to send out literature all over the United States, and to attend to all the duties that usually fall to the secretary of a Chamber of Commerce. E. C. Peck, F. A. Cunningham, Dr. F. S. Dolley, and President Dr. J. C. McGovern were appointed on a committee to work out further details of this plan.

The matter of having South San Francisco and its possibilities included in literature now being prepared for distribution by the Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco was brought up, and a committee com-

Firearms Ordinance

City Marshal Conrad stated he believed it would be advisable to have an ordinance restricting the sale of firearms, declaring that many neighboring cities now have such ordinances. The suggestion met with the approval of the board and City Attorney Coleberd was instructed to draw such an ordinance.

To Raze Building

Fire Chief Truax stated the shell of the building next the Central Hotel, which was burned at the same time the Central suffered, should be entirely torn down, and City Clerk McSweeney was instructed to notify the owner to have this done.

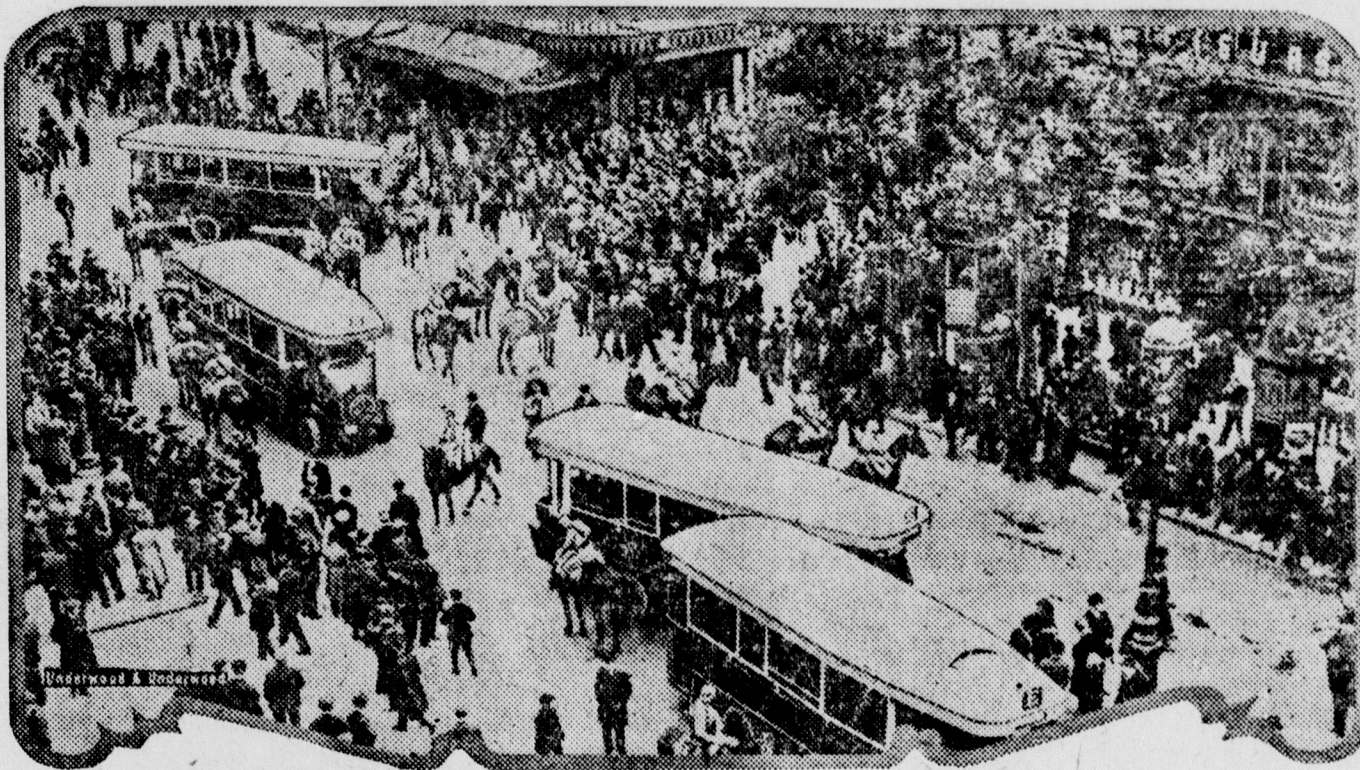

A certificate was received from City Engineer Kneese stating that $4000 was now due C. B. Cowden on construction of sewers, and the clerk was instructed to draw a warrant for this amount.

Several bills were read and ordered paid. The board adjourned to meet again next Monday night.

Special Meeting

A special meeting of the board was held last Friday afternoon at which a resolution was passed providing for the filing of an intervention complaint in the case of the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce vs. the Southern Pacific Company.

P. G. EMPLOYEES HOLD BANQUET IN CITY

Employees Organization Meets at Palace for Jinks.

Nearly all of the employees of the district from South San Francisco to Mountain View were present at the annual banquet of the Pacific Service Employees' Association held in the Palace Hotel in San Francisco last Thursday evening, June 17th.

The banquet is an annual event and is attended by both employees and officers of the company and exemplifies the splendid spirit of co-operation which enters into the work of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company.

A splendid program was given by the members of the association and speeches were made by John A. Britton, vice-president and general manager of the company, and by E. O. Edgerton, president of the California Railroad Commission.

E. W. Florence of this district was chairman of the reception committee of the evening, and the excellent way in which the out-of-town people were received was the result of his work and ability.

LOCAL PEOPLE JOIN NEW GOLF ORGANIZATION

Donald D. Williams and Lee T. Ross of Redwood City are on the membership committee for the Peninsula Country Club, recently organized in this county. The organization has secured a lease on a large tract belonging to the Spring Valley Water Company and overlooking the Crystal Springs lakes for a golf course. Lee H. Newbert and Charles K. Melrose of San Mateo are the president and secretary, respectively, of the new club. Several residents of South San Francisco have joined the new organization.

IN THE COURT OF JUSTICE W. J. SMITH

The case of A. Johnson against the United Railroads Company, transferred from the court of Justice Ellis Johnson of Daly City, has been set for hearing July 24th.

In the case of John Ruggery, charged with disturbing the peace by Mrs. Mary Snel of the Bay Point Restaurant, Ruggery was found guilty and fined $10.

Former City Marshal Arthur Meehan of San Bruno, sued for the price of a pistol by T. F. Sweeney of San Bruno, has been ordered by Judge Smith to pay the sum of $23, the amount asked for. Meehan confiscated the gun while in office and failed to return it. This case was heard some time ago, but decision was deferred until recently.

F. Damanti, arrested on complaint of Frank Botalli, the charge being assault with a deadly weapon, will be given a hearing Friday of next week. J. J. Bullock and J. Barry will prosecute the case, while Attorney Taffe of San Francisco will represent the complainant. This case was transferred from Judge Johnson's court.

Judge Johnson left Thursday for a month's vacation, and Judge Smith will sit every Friday in Johnson's court during his brother judge's absence.

COUNTY COURT OF HONOR HOLDS FIRST MEETING

The San Mateo Court of Honor, Boy Scouts of America, held its first meeting Friday night of last week in Judge Smith's court room. Thomas Doak appeared before the court and was awarded a merit badge for successfully passing swimming tests recently, and William Haley of San Bruno was awarded two merit badges, one for cycling, the other for cooking.

NEW SECRETARY AT THE LOCAL Y. M. C. A.

Takes Over Management and Also Athletic Directorship.

Irving W. Larimore has arrived in South San Francisco to take charge of the Y. M. C. A. in this city, taking the place recently vacated by Secretary David L. Smith, who has gone to Sacramento to engage in similar work at the state capital. Mr. Larimore will also carry on the athletic work until recently under charge of Glenn Williams.

Mr. Larimore comes from Vancouver, B. C., and has had thirty-five years' experience in "Y" work. He has the reputation of "pushing things over the top" wherever he works. System and push are Mr. Larimore's mottoes, and he expects to carry his work along with the same vim here that he has shown elsewhere. He is now arranging a comprehensive gymnasium and athletic schedule for the playground and the "Y" gym. Among other plans Mr. Larimore has in mind is the revival of the business men's gym class, abandoned after Mr. Williams' departure for Oakland.

Here's an example of how easy it is to secure 500,000 votes in the Enterprise-Progress big automobile prize contest: Twenty-five thousand votes are allowed on each five-year subscription (new or renewal), providing same is turned in before the close of the "first period," terminating Saturday night, July 3d.

Ten such subscriptions (amounting to $125 in business) would entitle you to 250,000 REGULAR votes. Then, according to the offer of allowing 50,000 SPECIAL votes on each "club" of $25 ($125 constitutes five complete "clubs," on which 250,000 SPECIAL votes are issued) making 250,000 REGULAR plus 250,000 SPECIAL votes, or a grand total of 500,000 votes.

Therefore, ten long-term subscriptions, or approximately its equivalent in shorter term orders, would mean half a million votes. Easy enough, isn't it?

Haven't you got ten friends who would help you to the extent of a five-year subscription (only $12.50) toward winning that who would help you to the extent of a five-year subscription (only $12.50) toward winning that splendid new 1920 model "Baby Grand" Chevrolet touring car, worth $1500? Surely you have. Try it and see!

BEST HUSTLERS WILL WIN THE BIG PRIZES

HONORS NOW ABOUT EVEN FOR FINE BIG TOURING CAR WORTH $1500; ONLY ONE MORE WEEK OF "FIRST PERIOD" VOTES.

Developments during the past few days in The Enterprise-Progress big automobile prize contest have been the most sensational and spectacular yet recorded. Hundreds of thousands of votes were cast; first one candidate would hold sway for supremacy, then another; battles were fought, won and lost, and the race waxed fast and furious.

Yet, so closely arrayed and with honors so equally divided up to the present time, it depends entirely upon the results obtained by each individual candidate and their friends between now and the close of the "first period"—Saturday night, July 3d—as to who the ultimate winners will be.

No one has a "walk-away" for the prize automobile. Neither is any one hopelessly beaten. Just a good bunch of subscriptions turned in for the account of any one of the various candidates; or, for that matter, an entirely NEW candidate, would change the entire complexion of the affair, and furnish new leaders in the race. In fact, a few long-term subscriptions from unexpected sources now might be the very ones needed to stem the tide of defeat and turn it to sweeping victory.

Contest Reaches Acute Stage

With but one more week after Saturday night in which to turn in subscriptions and secure the maximum number of votes, and but four weeks to go before the race finally comes to a close, interest in the contest intensifies. Each candidate realizes that the big prizes, stupendous in their value, lie practically within their grasp—either to be claimed for their very own or forfeited to more aggressive competitors during the few weeks—depending almost entirely upon the effort put forth while the big votes were allowed.

If you halt now for a moment; if you weaken for a single day, or if you overlook one opportunity to better your chances to win, you are taking the desperate chance of losing the big prizes, already partially won, and which really belong to you, and you are nearly certain to bring dismal disappointment upon yourself as well as your friends, who will take it as

SIREN ROUSES ECHOES.

The echoes in South San Francisco and the region for several miles around were awakened Saturday morning at about 7 o'clock by wails from a siren whistle. Speculation was rife as to their origin, covering the field from earthquake signals to a new fire alarm. This train was one of twelve specials which passed through town on their way north to the same destination.

To learn why the promise of the United Railroad to run the "cemetery" cars down to the South San Francisco station has never been fulfilled, the committee recently appointed for the first interview with the street car officials was instructed to have another session with these men.

The meeting adjourned to meet again at the city hall Tuesday evening, July 13th.

BEST HUSTLERS WILL WIN.

A Fight to the Finish

Don't forget that this is a battle hereafter. Craft helps; speed too, but the rugged strength and lasting qualities of a few hundred thousand votes means victory here as the same traits win any battle.

Vote discreetly; hustle swiftly, watch and battle persistently until the end, and if you don't win at that it will be for no other reason than that some competitor embodies all your strength to a greater degree.

Remember: 3000 votes are allowed on subscriptions this and next week, while the following week only 2000 votes are allowed; 25,000 votes are issued on five-year subscriptions now, while during the "second period" only 20,000 votes are given.

WORK NOW IF YOU WISH TO WIN!

CARS STRIKE; NONE HURT.

MANY GRASS FIRES LATELY.

A GALAXY OF MOVIE STARS

ANTONIO MORENO

Antonio Moreno was a small boy when his father died. Eager to assist his mother by sharing part of the family burden he obtained a position as baker's clerk. For this service he received the princely sum of two dollars a week. Although he liked his position, this Spanish lad had dreams of making a fortune. He had seen wealthy American tourists in his native town and they awakened ambition in his breast. He resolved to save his money and go to the land of promise.

The Americans who visited Campamento were all supposed to be millionaires. Into the mind of Antonio Moreno came dreams, dreams of wealth that lay across the great ocean. He became determined to go to the United States and make a fortune.

When Antonio Moreno, at the age of fifteen, walked up the gangplank from the Gibraltar docks to an American steamship, he was in reality crossing the bridge from nonentity to fame. Aboard the boat was one of America's most distinguished actresses, Miss Helen Ware. Her attention was attracted to the handsome lad with the fiery eyes, and she became interested in him. "What do you intend to do when you reach America?" inquired Miss Ware.

"Make a fortune," promptly replied young Antonio.

Miss Ware smiled at his confidence and replied, "I think you will find both fame and fortune in the theater if you chose to become an actor."

The prophecy is now being realized. Antonio Moreno as the star of such Vitagraph serials as "The Iron Test" and "Perils of Thunder Mountain," is earning international fame and a considerable fortune. While in New York recently he signed a two year contract with the Vitagraph Company and recently finished a serial production dealing with secret service, entitled "The Invisible Hand."

WESTERN MEAT TO PICNIC.

Employees of the Western Meat Company have planned a picnic for July 25th at Woodside. This will be the fourth annual picnic of the packing plant employees.

FULLER EMPLOYEES PICNIC.

The employees of the big Fuller paint works enjoyed their ninth annual picnic last Sunday at Paradise Cove. A day full of entertaining features was spent.

MUSIC PUPILS APPEAR IN RECITAL AT BERKELEY

Several of the local music pupils of Miss Hazel Frost took part in a recital at Berkeley June 12th, at the home of Mrs. F. B. Kenward. Among the young musicians from this city who appeared on this occasion were Burt Butler and Imelda Smith, each of whom played several selections.

MUNICIPAL MARKET IS PLAN FOR SAN BRUNO

That San Bruno will have an open-air municipal market in the near future seems now assured. Such enthusiasm was shown for the project at a meeting held at the Novelty Theater recently, that it is practically sure nothing will be allowed to stand in the way of the plan. The market will be located on the "gorge" in front of Cheatham's Tavern, at the junction of the state highway and San Bruno road. Mr. Cheatham has offered the city the use of this property for the remainder of his lease, about six and a half years.

An actual stall, decorated and filled with produce, pastry and groceries, the latter supplied by Hirsels and the New Standard groceries, just as it is planned the proposed booths will appear, was shown and stirred much interest.

City Trustee Dr. F. H. Smith, commissioner of commerce, presided at the meeting and explained the project which, in brief, is to encourage all to produce as much foodstuff as possible and to offer a place where all surplus produce may be offered for sale. The plan is to finance the project by popular subscriptions, this money to be returned as the market begins to pay. Another point, as brought out by Mayor A. S. W. Grundy, is to turn the heavy automobile traffic at this point to the advantage of the city and its residents, as well as to encourage all who have even a small plot of ground to produce something. According to Mr. Grundy, it is planned to have forty booths in the market.

Other speakers were George Clark, Fred C. Russel, J. Cheatham, O. A. Osborne, and P. J. Sullivan. All spoke enthusiastically for the project and its great possibilities. Dr. Smith then appointed a permanent finance committee, consisting of George Clark, Fred C. Russel, George G. Hughes, and Louis H. Traegar.

When subscriptions were called for, the interest all had taken in the plan was shown by the fact that practically everybody present subscribed in some amount, the total pledged within a short time being over $1000. It is believed there will be no difficulty in securing the remaining $500. The following have subscribed to date: O. A. Osborne, P. J. Clarke, F. W. Privett, A. A. La Reaux, Dr. F. H. Smith, Mrs. J. Callaghy, Mr. Rosco, A. Mortensen, George Clarke, Joseph Burress, A. Cribari, Frank Steward, Joseph Cunningham, Pete Gouzene, A. S. W. Grundy, George G. Hughes,

PUBLIC-SPIRITED WOMAN TO LEAVE SAN BRUNO SOON

Recently a program was carried out by the Center Club in the nature of a farewell party to Mrs. William H. Haley, who planned to move to Fresno at the end of the month. Mrs. Haley has endeared herself to the citizens of this community, and particularly to the younger element, whose welfare she has always had in mind.

Some four years ago Mrs. Haley, with the co-operation of Mrs. William J. Flynn, established the Recreation Center. The purpose of the center was to maintain a place where the younger people could enjoy themselves at various pastimes. Mrs. Flynn and Mrs. Haley labored continuously under apparently insurmountable obstacles, which were one at a time overcome. They were finally rewarded by receiving financial support from the city. The young ladies and gentlemen of the community, appreciating the value of their efforts, organized what is known as the Center Club to assist in the work as planned by Mrs. Haley and Mrs. Flynn. As A. S. W. Grundy stated in an address at the party, Mrs. Haley has built a monument here to herself.

San Bruno will lose one of its best workers when Mrs. Haley goes to Fresno. The residents of this city appreciate the work of Mrs. Haley, and wish her the best of luck in any similar venture in her new residence.

How Many Homes Have You Paid For?

And how many homes do you own today? Recently a man came into our office that had decided years ago to apply his rent money toward the payment of a house. He soon rented the house to another fellow and his rent paid the balance on the house. He bought himself another one and another one, until today he owns several homes, and has quit work. The rent money he now collects means a substantial income to him. The future is sure, bright and smiling for his wife and children.

Rent day never comes around to the man who owns his own Home.

A deed to your home is the best form of life insurance you can have.

We will build you a house to order, exactly as you plan it and upon a lot that suits your ideas. A small payment down and your rent money will pay for it. The man who owns his own home not only saves rent but makes money on the increased value in his property.

MORE WORK THAN PAY.

Congress should come to the relief of the postmasters and the postal employees of the country. Their pay is so small and the cost of living so high that experienced men are resigning at an alarming rate in this branch of the public service. It is crippling the mails and retarding business to a serious extent, and creating a state of public uneasiness over the country.

Congress appoints committees to investigate and the committees consume much time in palavering, and that is about as far as they go. The postal employees continue to exist on small pay, or quit, and the service becomes more crippled through the employment of new and inexperienced help.

We have no fault to find with the postal service itself. We believe it is doing all that it can do under seriously handicapping conditions. We do not believe that any business enterprise could long continue to exist under these same conditions.

The laborer is worthy of his hire the world over, and so long as employees in the marts of trade are receiving high wages to meet the advanced cost of living, the man who handles the mail of this great country should receive equal consideration. Merchants do not make him a discount when he buys his food and clothing from them. Why should the government expect him to discount the value of his services?

LETTING GEORGE DO IT.

In the opinion of the average foreign country America is one vast hive of agricultural industry. They seem to think that all they have to do is to ask and we will hand over the food.

America has been generous in the past in dividing its food supply with Europe, even when we had to deny ourselves to do it. But the war is over and war necessities and conditions no longer exist.

The American farmer is very short of help. Experts predict a shortage of foodstuffs next winter, with the possibility of bread and soup lines in the cities of our own country. If this should happen Europe cannot expect us to meekly hand over the food we need to sustain life among our own people. Exporting profiteers would of course take advantage of the situation and send food to Europe at enormous gains to themselves. But the public will not have it so. If such is attempted the roar of protest will be long and deep and will engulf any person who attempts to starve American women and children for the sake of selling to Europe at great personal profit.

America asks neither alms nor favors from any country. We are ready to relieve distress across the water when conditions and humanity permit, but we are not willing to send our own people to bed hungry in order to do it. Europe can work and produce if it will. It should quit squabbling and cultivate that will.

"Letting George do it" doesn't appeal strongly to us, especially when we are expected to make of ourselves a universal and perpetual George.

GIVE YOUR CHILD A CHANCE.

An initiative petition will soon be circulated by the teachers of this county who are joining in the statewide movement to give the people an opportunity next November to register at the polls their approval or disapproval of the public schools of our state.

If you consider public education worth while, you will call upon the state to do its share in maintaining the schools—the state is not doing its share now, and that is why you cannot give your teachers adequate compensation although your supervisors have authorized the maximum county tax of 50 cents and practically every district has raised its tax to the limit of the law.

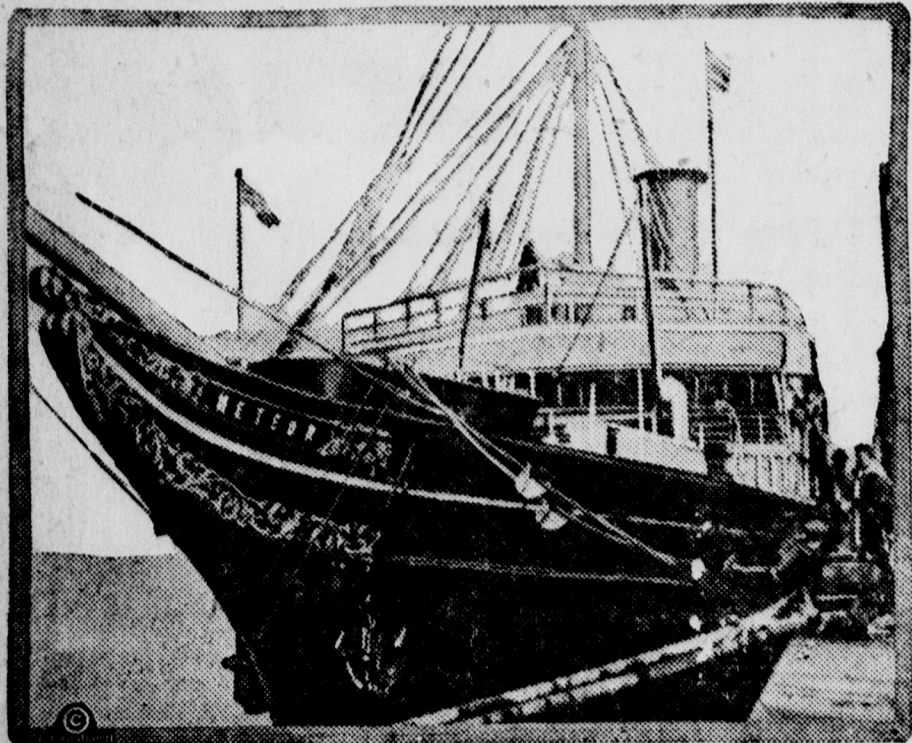

Sign the initiative petition, which provides: That every dollar you raise in the county for the education of your child while in the grammar school shall be matched with a dollar from the revenues of the state; that every dollar you raise in the county for your child in the high school shall be augmented by 50 cents from the revenues of the state.

You will give your child the opportunity to become an intelligent citizen equipped with a trained brain, heart and soul; you will not handicap him for life nor handicap even more the children of those illiterate thousands who have come to our shores looking for light through the public schools.

Sign the initiative petition brought to you by the teacher who has resolved to wait another year to give you an opportunity to provide for the proper education of your child.

Vote for the initiative measure put before you at the polls next November, and guarantee state aid for your child's education.

SUPERVISORS HOLD REGULAR SESSION

Several Matters From Colma Taken Up and Routine Disposed Of.

Attorney John D. Davis submitted in writing the proposed plan of the Colma Improvement Club to tunnel under the Southern Pacific embankment in the town of Colma. The plan was thus submitted at the suggestion of the Railroad Commission. Davis explained that the purpose of the tunnel was to relieve the congested traffic at the lower end of Market street caused by vegetable trucks. The board granted permission for this work to be done, directing the county surveyor to prepare the necessary plans for the proposed improvement.

Alessander Alerdi of Colma applied for permission to raise hogs on his thirty-acre ranch. Action on this was deferred until a special committee from the board can investigate the matter and make a report.

Mrs. Rinda Shortridge Morse of San Mateo tendered her resignation as member of the county Social Service Commission, and it was accepted. On motion of Supervisor Mrs. Brown, seconded by Supervisor Hickey, Mrs. Anne Patterson of San Mateo was appointed to fill the vacancy.

A petition of Carl Schwarz and twenty-nine other residents and taxpayers of Colma lighting district, asking for additional light at the corner of First avenue and Price street in Colma, was granted on motion of Supervisor Hickey, seconded by Supervisor Thompson.

An application from the Standard Oil Company to erect a "Safety First" signal near its oil station at the corner of School street and the state highway, Colma, was granted.

District Attorney Swart addressed the board relative to the proposed county ordinance governing the inspection of meat slaughtered in San Mateo county, and at the attorney's suggestion the board deferred action on the ordinance until the next meeting, July 6th.

Many routine matters were taken up and disposed of.

SUPERIOR COURT ADJOURNS FOR SUMMER VACATION

The superior court of San Mateo county will adjourn July 1st for the usual month's summer vacation. No contest cases will be heard during that period. Many attorneys of the county are planning to leave for various resorts throughout the state.

Of course, if you insist upon getting poor slowly, you might stock up on liberty bonds.

FOR LOVE'S SAKE

By AUGUSTUS G. SHERWIN

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union)

He was a man of whims. He could afford them; but when Robert Leeds invited Inez Walters to become an inmate of his princely home he had an object outside of the inspiration of charity. He had never seen her before, and the first thing that struck him was her wild rose beauty.

Inez was living with a relative of Mr. Leeds at Acton and the Deanes awarded her an indifferent home in return for toll and drudgery. Mr. Leeds, making a flying visit, was at once attracted by the rare loveliness of the girl. His scheming brain conceived a plan whereby he could use her to his advantage.

"I have taken a fancy to the girl," he told Mrs. Deane. "She is like a radiant flower wasted in the wilderness. My life is a lonely one. I have plenty of money. I will take her off your hands, make a lady of her and, if she turns out as I think she will, I shall adopt her legally."

Inez was dazzled by the prospect set before her by the old millionaire. Within a week all her arrangements were concluded. Mrs. Deane was to fit her out with suitable attire for the occupant of a higher social sphere and Inez looked forward with natural interest and anticipation to the new life about to open up for her.

There were two things that occupied her thoughts almost exclusively that last night at the Deane home. One was, the only suitable dress she had ever worn, made for her by her mother a month before she died. It was plain and cheap, but maternal love had given it a tastefulness that endeared it fondly to the orphan girl.

The other theme was a memory of the only lover she had ever known—Waldron Pearce. He had been her "beau" for over a year. A few months previous Waldron had gone to a distant place to secure work and Inez regretted leaving Acton without seeing or bidding him good-by. With the cherished dress, however, packed in a neat box, she placed a withered bunch of roses which Waldron had given her when they had last parted.

Mr. Leeds received her with fatherly welcome and it took poor humble Inez many days to habituate herself to her luxurious environment. There was a kindly housekeeper, and the bright, pleasant manner of Inez soon made her a favorite with the other servants. Mr. Leeds provided her with everything the heart could desire and Inez tried to be grateful. Then there appeared a new figure on the scene—Ronald Greer.

He was the dissolute nephew of Mr. Leeds and a source of constant anxiety to the old man. His only living near relative, his uncle regarded him with real affection, poorly repaid by the ungrateful and undeserving object of his care. It was solely on account of Greer that he had acted on the caprice of bringing Inez into his life. In the first place, he hoped that her presence in the house would arouse the jealousy of a young lady to whom Greer had proposed marriage and who rejected him. If that failed, then Greer might turn his attention to Inez, and this Mr. Leeds hoped for, believing that marriage would curb the unsteadiness of Greer's nature.

From the beginning Inez took an aversion to the coarse, common young man who betrayed all the characteristics of a trifter. She finally entertained a suspicion of the plans of Mr. Leeds. Inactivity was foreign to her nature and she began to weary of a profitless butterfly existence. One day she ran to the door as she made out Waldron Pearce passing the door, but by the time she reached the street he was out of view.

Waldron looked pale and ill. Inez could not get him out of her mind after that. A sight of him had revived all her old-time liking for the manly, handsome young fellow. She followed an impulse to write to Mrs. Deane and ask her what had become of Waldron.

Inez received a brief reply telling her that Waldron had returned, but had left town upon hearing of the change of fortune. She gave his city address and the next day Inez located it, to find that Waldron had been taken ill and had been removed to a hospital.

"There was a young lady he loved and had followed to the city," narrated the landlady, "but he found her with such grand folks that he broke down, believing that she would never condescend to remember him."

That night Inez left the Leeds home after writing a note to its owner telling him that she should not return. She took only with her the dress her mother had made, found a respectable boarding house and employment and every evening visited the hospital. Brave, dauntless little heroine that she was, her mind was all made up as to the future! And a marvelous change for the better came to the half heartbroken Waldron when he realized that true love for him had inclined Inez to give up a life of luxury to be near him.

A month later, man and wife, they settled down into a quiet, humble life, forgetting all save the fact that fate had brought together two souls meant one for the other and engrossed with a mutual happiness that poverty could not mar nor time cause to fade away.

PREFERS INDEPENDENCE TO HIGH POSITION

The Democratic party of the Philippines will join the Nacionalista party, which is now in power, in the demand for immediate independence of the Philippines, Senator Teodoro Sandiko, only member of the Democratic party in the Philippine senate, said in an address at a luncheon at Manila. This means that all political parties in the Philippines are united for independence.

Hon. Sergio Osmeña, noted Filipino leader, who stated he would prefer to be humblest citizen under independence than leader under another country.

The luncheon was given for members of both houses of the Philippine legislature by former Senator Gabaldon, recently chosen resident commissioner at Washington.

Sergio Osmeña, speaker of the Philippine house of representatives and head of the dominant Nacionalista party, who was recently termed "the greatest Filipino since Rizal," addressing Senor Gabaldon, said:

"We urge upon you in your capacity of resident commissioner to the United States to tell Congress and the people of that noble country that we who are gathered here today would prefer to be the lowest and humblest citizens of the Philippines with independence in our hands than the leaders that we now are in our country under the tutelage of another country."

URGE EXAMPLE OF SELF-DETERMINATION

That friends of Irish independence in the American Congress could make a more effective impression on Great Britain by granting Philippine independence than by merely expressing sympathy with Irish aspirations is the suggestion contained in a statement issued by the Philippine Press Bureau of Washington, D. C.

"Twice in a period of nine months," reads the statement, "the United States Senate went on record as being in sympathy with the aspirations of the Irish people for a government of their own choice."

"Still another way for the friends of Irish independence in the American Congress to make an impressive argument would be to grant the independence of the 10,500,000 inhabitants of the Philippines have repeatedly demanded. America's own representatives in the islands have officially reported they are ready for independence and have recommended that such independence be granted."

"We submit that the granting of Philippine independence would be likely to be accepted by Great Britain as even stronger proof of America's belief in self-determination than the passage of the Irish resolutions, because Great Britain's counselors of state could not then successfully make the point that the American Congress is asking Great Britain to do something the United States itself has been asked to do and has not done."

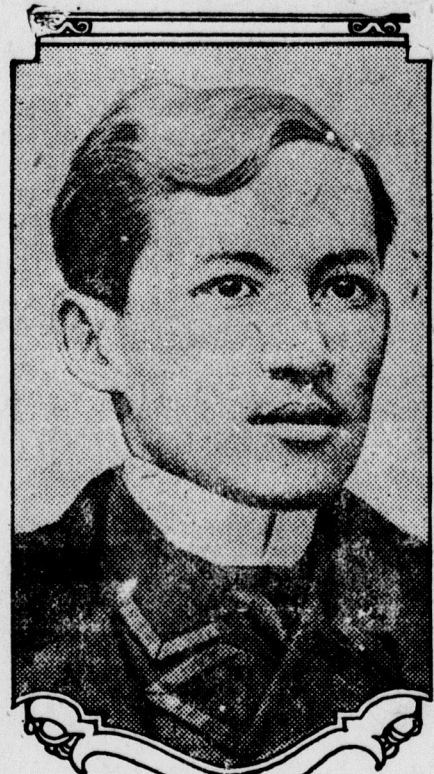

"The Filipino people have confidence in the word of America and hope that now that the Senate has reiterated its sympathy with the principle of self-determination it will give Great Britain and the other powers of the world a concrete example of consistency and good faith by granting Philippine independence."

YOUNG FILIPINO WON FRENCH WAR CROSS.

Gregorio Cailles, a Filipino, recently returned to his Philippine home wearing a French uniform and a Croix de Guerre with palm. Cailles in December, 1916, arrived in France and enlisted as a private. He made an excellent record as a soldier. At one time when all the officers of his company had been killed, he took command and led the men in a charge. He was decorated for this act of bravery by the French Government.

RIZAL, FILIPINO MARTYR, WROTE REMARKABLE POEM

By FORMER CONGRESSMAN CLYDE H. TAVENNER.

DR. JOSE RIZAL, The Filipino Patriot.

myself offer the example of which I have always preached. A man ought to die for duty and his principles. I hold fast to every idea which I have advanced as to the condition and future of our country, and shall willingly die for it. I hold duties of conscience above all else. Besides I wish to show those who deny us patriotism that we know how to die for duty and principles."

While Rizal was in Europe working for Philippine reforms, the Spanish governor-general, to indirectly punish Rizal, carried on a relentless persecution of his parents and relatives in the Philippines, driving them into exile. To his parents Rizal left a second letter, saying: "Should fate go against me, you will understand that I shall die happy in the thought that my death will end all your troubles. Return to our country and may you be happy in it. Till the last moment of my life I shall be thinking of you and wishing you all good fortune and happiness."

Spain had meanwhile determined on having Rizal's life, foolishly thinking that if his voice was still agitation for the reforms he championed would end. Rizal was arrested on a trumped up charge of treason and condemned to death. But no sooner had the firing squad completed its work than the teachings of Rizal almost instantaneously became the passionate inspiration of the whole Filipino race. His unjust execution had simply transferred the intense patriotism of Rizal to the breasts of an entire nation of people. The Philippine nationalism of today dates from the sunny morning of December 30, 1896, when Rizal was led forth from his prison to willingly give, as he himself said, his life for his country's redemption.

While touring in the Philippines recently the conviction was ever present in my mind, and I could not throw it off, that the real inspiration as well as the leadership of the Filipino people in their present desire for independence is the spirit of Jose Rizal. The memory of Rizal and the desire for independence seem to be synonymous in the mind of the average Filipino.

Rizal is the inspiration of all classes, of old and young, of all the people; he is not dead, for his spirit is everywhere in that beautiful land. His picture adorns the homes of the poorest families; streets, avenues and cities are named in his honor, while his statue stands in the parks and public squares. In life Rizal was a beautiful character, kind and considerate of all, gladly giving his life for his country, and in memory he has become the national idol. With such a spirit as its national inspiration the Philippines can not help but reach heights now not dreamed of.

While awaiting death in his cell during his last night on earth Rizal wrote a remarkable poem, "My Last Farewell." He secreted the manuscript in an alcohol cooking lamp, where it was found after his execution. It follows:

MY LAST FAREWELL.

By DR. JOSE RIZAL.

Farewell, dear fatherland, clime of the sun
Pearl of the Orient seas, our Eden lost,
Gladly now I go to give thee this faded life's best
And were it brighter, fresher or more blest
Still would I give it thee, nor count the cost.

On the field of battle, 'midst the frenzy of fight,
Others have given their lives without doubt or heed;
The place matters not—cypress or laurel
or bay white,
Scaffold or open plain, combat or martyrdom's plight,
'Tis even the same, to serve our home and country's gain.

I die just when I see the dawn break Through the gloom of night, to herald the day
And if color is lacking my blood thou shalt take
Pour'd out at need for thy dear sake,
To dye with its crimson thy waking ray.

My dreams, when life first opened to me,
My dreams, when the hopes of youth beat high,
Were to see thy loved face, O gem of the Orient sea,
From gloom and grief, from care and
sorrow free;
No blush on thy brow, no tear in thine eye.

Dream of my life, my living and burning desire,
All hail! cries the soul that is now to take flight,
To die for thy sake that thou may'st
aspire,
And sleep in thy bosom eternity's long night.

If over my grave some day thou seest grow
In the grassy sod, a humble flower,
Draw it to thy lips and kiss my soul so
While I may feel on my brow in the cold tomb below
The touch of thy tenderness, thy breath's warm flower.

Let the moon beam over me soft and serene,
Let the dawn shed over me its radiant flashes,
Let the wind with sad lament over me
keen,
And if on my cross a bird should be seen,
Let it thrill there its hymn of peace to my ashes.

Let the sun draw its vapors up to the sky,
And heavenward in purity hear my tardy
prayer;
Let some kind soul o'er my untimely fate
cry,
And in its still evening a prayer be lifted
on high,
From thee, O my country, that in God I may rest.

Pray for all those that hapless have died,
For all who have suffered the unmeasured pain;
For our mothers that bitterly their woes
have cried,
For widows and orphans, for captives by force tried,
And then for thyself that redemption thou may'st gain.

And when the dark night wraps the graveyard around,
With only the dead in their vigil to see;
Break not my repose or the mystery profound,
And perchance thou may'st hear a sad
hymn resound;
'Tis I, O my country, raising a song unto thee.

When even my grave is remembered no more,
Unmarked by never a cross or a stone;
Let the plow sweep through it, the spade
turn it o'er,
That my ashes may carpet thy earthly floor.

Before into nothingness at last they are flown,
Then will oblivion bring me no care,
As over thy vales and plains I sweep, Throbbing and cleansed in thy space and air.

With color and light, with song and lament I fare,
Ever repeating the faith that I keep.
My fatherland adored, that sadness to my Beloved Filipinas, hear now my last goodbye:
I give thee all: parents and kindred and
friends resound;
For I go where no slave before thee
oppressor bends,
Where faith can never kill, and God
reigns e'er on high.

Farewell, father and mother and brot-
ers,
Dear friends of the fireside! Farewell, ye should be for me that I at the end of the long day
Farewell, sweet, from the stranger's my joy and my comrade!
Farewell, dear ones, farewell! To rest from our labors!

HAPPENINGS in the CITIES

This Judge Has Need of All of Solomon's Wisdom

NEW YORK.—A love triangle with a new twist has developed here in the chambers of Supreme Court Justice Erlanger. Miss Marie Theresa Baco, a beautiful Porto Rican girl, launched a fight for possession of an infant held by Prof. Karl Heidmann, teacher of languages, and his wife.

Both sides admit that the girl is the mother of the child; further, that the professor is its father.

Likewise, it is admitted that the professor's wife is aware of these facts and virtually encouraged the contraband romance between him and the girl preliminary to the baby's coming.

Mrs. Heidmann and Miss Baco lived on adjoining plantations in Porto Rico prior to the former's marriage, and it was at the wife's invitation that the girl came to New York to visit at her home.

With the foregoing points undisputed, it now is up to the court to decide which is entitled to the child: Miss Baco, its mother, or Professor Heidmann, its father. Strenuously supporting the professor in his claim is Mrs. Heidmann.

Four years of married life have failed to bless the Heidmanns with children.

According to George E. Coughlin, counsel for Miss Baco, the professor's wife designed the romance between her husband and her girlhood friend to avert the rapidly deepening breach in her home which this failure was precipitating.

When he showed an affection for Miss Baco it occasioned neither surprise nor criticism from Mrs. Heidmann.

Miss Baco was shown every consideration by the Heidmanns when the baby was born. Mrs. Heidmann said she would forgive her husband, provided the baby remained in the Heidmann home.

Omaha Miser Defies Old H. C. L. to His Last Gasp

OMAHA.—A. J. Seaman, seventy-seven years old, an Omaha miser worth possibly $500,000, died the other day because he would not increase his budget of expenditures of 15 cents a day. Before the war Mr. Seaman managed to live very well on $1.05 a week. He refused to increase his expenses when prices went upward and cut down on the amount of food. As a result, when his hand became infected and he refused to see a doctor because of the cost, his system could not withstand the blood poison which set in and he died, leaving no will.

He has a sister, Mrs. Harriet Wolf of Los Angeles, said to be in poor circumstances. She will inherit his money, in all probability. When the sister wrote to him asking for assistance in purchasing an $8 second-hand sewing machine, he sent her a lot of tin foil he had picked up on the streets with instructions to sell it and buy the machine.

Mrs. Mary Seaman Hickman of Albia, Iowa, and A. E. Robinson, Webster City, Iowa, claim to be his cousins.

"They want my money," he told the postman when returning their letters unopened.

Seaman carried on a tax-title business. He carried his papers in the tail pockets of his Prince Albert coat, bought at a second-hand store seven years ago.

For years Seaman went to bed at dark to save a light bill. He saved coal by staying in bed on cold days. He roomed at a farmhouse and got his room for 50 cents a month because it had neither heat, light nor water.

Some years ago when he wanted to go to Denver on business, he walked the entire 600 miles, carrying two pairs of half-soles for his shoes. He borrowed a hammer and some tacks along the way and made his own repairs.

Marriage Licenses Give Out; 15 Marriages Upset

DENVER.—No announcement of increases in the H. C. L. line can possibly cause one-tenth of the consternation that resulted the other morning when some fifteen couples were informed by the clerk of the marriage license bureau: "No marriage licenses today. We're all out."

"But I've got to have a license," protested one of the applicants. "The girl is waiting for me at the minister's. We were going right from the ceremony to the station."

Henry L. Doud, marriage license clerk, agreed that the situation was unfortunate. "But we haven't a license in the place," he repeated. "They've been ordered from the printer's since December 1, but the shortage of paper and the flu have delayed their delivery. Can't you marry the girl at your first stop?" he suggested hopefully.

"Not on your life. Her mother won't let us start until she sees us safely married," was the response. "Say, how long does it take to get to Littleton by taxi?"

The next applicant was accompanied by the blushing girl of his choice. He seemed to labor under the impression that the marriage license shortage was an attempt to raise the price of the commodity.

"How much does a license cost?" he demanded. He was told that the regular price was $2.50. "All right. I'll give you $5—$10—I'll pay anything you ask—I'm desperate."

One young woman who accompanied her swain to the counter insisted that their failure to obtain a permit to wed was a "bad omen," and it looked, when they left, as if the man would have a hard time convincing her to the contrary.

Famous Lost Gold Mine of Idaho Reported Found

SPOKANE.—The "lost" gold mine of the upper Salmon river district of Idaho has been rediscovered, according to a report reaching here. For many years two prospectors named Hughes and Swan went every spring on a mysterious journey into the hills of central Idaho, and every fall returned with quantities of raw gold. They succeeded, moreover, in eluding pursuit upon their journeys.

Then one fall Hughes fell sick, and Swan, his partner, left alone next spring on the annual pilgrimage. Again he eluded pursuit. On his return journey he was waylaid, murdered and robbed of the fruits of his summer's toil.

Hughes, jealously guarding the secret of the hidden wealth against the day when he should recover his health, died in poverty in this city.

Shortly before he died, however, he endeavored to give his golden secret to C. H. Roff, a former Spokane policeman who had befriended him. With his failing strength he drew a crude map of its location, as nearly as he could remember it.

Practically every summer since then Roff has spent in a fruitless search for the lost mine. For twenty years he has continued his quest.

The mine has been located, according to a report from Lewistown, Idaho, by two Jensen brothers of that city. It is declared to be a tributary canon of Ramsey creek in the upper Salmon river district of central Idaho.

The ledge proper is declared to be from four to six feet wide, with a rich streak of quartz, in which the gold is easily visible to the naked eye, four to six inches in width.

THE ALIEN

By CECILLE LANGDON

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union)

Warren Bell was a grateful young man. At twenty he broke down from overwork at top-notch speed. It was the end, the doctor told him, unless he could spend a year in New Mexico. Warren went thither. At the end of six months he had exhausted the last penny of his careful savings and was forced to work, beg or starve. Most fortunately he happened across a ranch owner the great extent of whose holdings demanded quite some clerical attention. When not busy at his accounts Warren helped rounding up the cattle. There was just enough vigorous outdoor exercise to harden him, and at the end of the year his ailments were gone.

"Bound to get back to the city, are you?" propounded his employer, disappointedly.

"Why, yes," replied Warren. "Somehow it has a lure for me. I like to be among men and events. They interest me. I'm done with ambition, though—that is, the kind that steams ahead recklessly and winds up in a wreck. 'You are in quite prime condition,' advised his physician when, bronzed and brisk, Warren reported to him. 'Now don't fall back into the old rut. The ideal life for you is a position where you can get outside half of the time,' and Warren proceeded to look for work corresponding with this basis. Luckily he found it at the very start. His ideas of compensation were modest."

His new employer was the publisher of an annual city directory. Three months in the year it was all canvassing for names. Warren had his own district, covering territory where the majority of the population was of foreign birth or descent. He had a smattering of several languages and as each year came around about one-third of it was spent in the open air. He had completely systematized his district and his friendly ways won the co-operation of landlords, parish priests and policemen, who knew old and new residents of the district.

Particularly helpful in spelling out strange names and getting them correct was a young girl named Aida Merrill. She had charge of a creche for a benevolent society and cared for children left in daily charge. Her salary was small, but she loved the little ones and this constituted a bond between Warren and herself. She had acquired a knowledge of Polish and Bohemian and very often corrected Warren's list where, because of the ignorance of those he listed, he was compelled to spell names purely by sound.

Most of the canvassers on the directory were transient employees. Warren, however, had become so proficient and experienced that he was taken on permanently. There was always more or less clerical work to do between directory issues. The company was often solicited to furnish classified lists of names to hunt up individuals. As the company had for reference the directories of all the large cities a genealogical bureau in England once employed them to list all the "Drakes" in the United States. Some real life romances and tragedies came to light in other investigations. These Warren was deputized to take in charge.

A peculiar case had come to him. A local law firm employed him personally to look over old directories and try to locate one Vaclav Oquison. They stated that Oquison had left Poland ten years previous and it was known that for a time he had lived in Chicago. The name was an odd one, but did not occur in any local or other directories. Warren gave up the search, but did not forget the incident, for the attorneys stated that they would pay him five thousand dollars for the discovery of this Vaclav Oquison.

Warren was glad to start out on the annual canvass. It would give him an excuse to again meet Miss Merrill, whom he could not forget. One afternoon, in the very next house to the creche, he came across a man who refused to give his name. Warren discerned that he was a Pole. He went to Aida and asked her to assist him in getting the man's name. Her knowledge of his native tongue evidently won upon the foreigner.

"He is Peter Brown, he says," reported Aida. "Which is nonsense, for he is a dyed-in-the-wool Pole. I saw that he was hiding something and I grew confidential and friendly. It seems that he left Poland ten years ago under the ban of the Russian government, and changed his name so he could not be traced. His real name is Vaclav Oquison."

"What!" fairly shouted Warren, springing impetuously to his feet. "Oh, Aida! I mean, Miss Merrill, this means five thousand dollars for us!" "Five thousand dollars for us? How strangely you talk," spoke Aida bewilderedly.

"His fears are foolish," explained Warren. "He is heir to a large estate in Poland and I have been searching for him for over two years. You discovered him. You can carry out all your long ideas to provide for your little charges now, for half the reward is justly yours."

She looked so impressed with his worthy generosity and unselfishness that Warren called her "Aida" again, this time with a prefix of endearment, and that was the preface to a confession of love.

COLMA NEWS.

ROVERE-LAVAGNINO WEDDING.

Holy Angels' Church in Colma was the scene of a very happy event Sunday afternoon when Angelo Rovere and Miss Adele Lavagnino, both of Colma, were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father M. J. Concannon, pastor of the parish. Many friends and relatives of the family assembled to witness the ceremony. The bridesmaid was Miss Ernesta Lavagnino and the groomsmen Edward Salion.

After the bridal party left the church they went to San Francisco, where they had their pictures taken. When they arrived at the home of the bride's parents a sumptuous ravioli dinner was served amid many beautiful bouquets of flowers.

During the afternoon there was a gathering of many friends of the newlyweds at the Lavagnino home, and in the evening the guests enjoyed dancing, songs by Miss Ernesta Lavagnino and other pastimes.

The following friends of both bride and groom were present: John, Ernesta and Mrs. R. Lavagnino, Mr. and Mrs. G. Schenone; David, Angelo, George and Mrs. J. Boicelli; Mr. and Mrs. A. Silicani; Colombo, Lorenzo, Isla and Mrs. L. Benedetti; Edward Salion, Mr. and Mrs. J. Degliantoni, Louis Nava, Anita Armanino, Mr. and Mrs. A. Benedetti, Mrs. K. Mustante, Julio Rovere, Mr. and Mrs. Snow, Louis Logarmasino, Mr. and Mrs. G. Cavaglia, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Garibaldi.

You, after all, are only one of the common herd. You have to admit that it is a long time between drinks.

And still, there must be something fundamentally wrong with our system of compensation. None of us are ever paid according to our own ideas as to our worth.

What would you give to have your freedom?

As then you had it? But an ache, began, when you would read, to take its place behind your frontpiece, and stubbornly refused to cease.

NOTIZIE DALLA CONTEA
IN ITALIANO.

DUE LETTERE APERTE.

South San Francisco, Calif.
21 Giugno, 1920.

Egregio Signor Robert Speed, Editore del Giornale, The Enterprise:

Con molta mia gradita sorpresa lessi nel vostro molto pregiato Giornale della settimana scorsa parecchie notizie di cronaca in lingua Italiana.

Cio' e' un onore per noi italiani e dimostra che anche voi riconoscete il nostro valore di indefessi lavoratori e che formiamo un elemento non del tutto trascurabile in questa parte della Contea.

Ben due terzi della popolazione di South San Francisco e' formata da gente prettamente italiana ed e' piu' che giusto che questa massa di popolo sia tenuta in considerazione in tutte le cose pubbliche.

Quasi tutte le famiglie italiane posseggono la loro casa. Moltissimi sono in commercio; ma i piu' formano la gran massa di lavoratori che costituiscono la ricchezza delle numerose fattorie, dei campi e dei giardini di verdure di South San Francisco e dintorni.

Benche' voi, ancora non avete esposte in pubblico le ragioni per le quali vi indussero a dedicare qualche colonna del vostro molto accreditato Giornale alle notizie in lingua Italiana, io voglio sperare che continuerete per la via intrapresa.

Una cosa pero' voglio farvi notare; ed e' quella, che se intendete di pubblicare parte del vostro Giornale in lingua Italiana, e' necessario che vi provvediate di un bravo interprete che conosca bene tutte due le lingue l'Italiana e l'Inglese. Altrimenti finirete a cadere nel ridicolo e mettereste in repentaglio la riputazione del vostro Giornale.

Ringraziandovi anticipatamente

dell'ospitalita' mi dico
Vostro abbonato,
ENRICO ROSETTI.
Res. 16 Maple avenue.South San Francisco, Calif.
Sig. Enrico Rosetti:

La vostra lettera con la quale dimostraste il vostro apprezzamento per l'apparizione della colonna in Italiano nel nostro giornale "The Enterprise" fu ricevuta questa mattina, e vi assicuro che ci e' stata molto gradita.

Il pubblicare nel "The Enterprise" una colonna di notizie in Italiano e' un affare da me considerato gia' da lungo tempo fa; ma ho dovuto temporeggiare per le difficolta' di traduzione. Ora pero' queste difficolta' sono state eliminate e' ho stabilito in modo di avere un dipartimento Italiano nel quale settimanalmente appariranno le notizie piu' importanti della Contea.

Se i cittadini Italiani di questa localita' dimostreranno il loro apprezzamento in ritorno, allora io pigliero' in considerazione il lavoro e' le spese in piu' per questo dipartimento e prometto fin d'ora, di ingrandirlo in ragione dell'interessamento e dell'aiuto che i nostri cittadini Italiani daranno al nostro giornale locale.

Assicurandovi movimento del mio apprezzamento per la vostra gentile ed amichevole lettera e sperando di vedervi personalmente mi dico.

Vostro sincero,
ROBERT SPEED, Editore.SCAMPINI SI RECA

ECONOMY OF TIME AND LABOR

Strike a match—turn a valve—and the fire is ready. It's so easy that it doesn't seem possible to those who have been used to spending ten to thirty minutes building a fire. Still, it is true, when you use gas, and once you try it, money wouldn't hire you to go back to the old-time plan. Just think of all the time wasted with your fire—preparing the kindling—getting in the fuel—starting it—watching it—and the worry and muss it makes.

A GAS RANGE does away with all this.

It is very plain that it gives you a whole lot of extra time—allows you to sleep longer in the morning and gives you more time through the day for rest, enjoyment and other work.

But that's not all. GAS transforms the kitchen into a clean, inviting place, free from all the things that make dust and dirt.

No ashes, no smoke, no kindlings, no waits, no time lost—these are just a few things that gas fuel eliminates.

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO

A HISTORY

The first general merchandise store in South San Francisco was opened March 6, 1892, by Eikerenkotter & Co. in the building now known as the "Majestic Cafe." The firm consisted of two brothers, Julius and George Eikerenkotter, both living. Julius is proprietor of "Julie's" confectionery and ice cream parlor in this city. George is a resident of Redwood City. The Eikerenkotters belong to one of the pioneer families of San Mateo county and of California. The father, Augustus Eikerenkotter, came around the Horn in 1849, upon landing going directly to the mines in El Dorado county. The camp where the pioneer Eikerenkotter began mining was named "Paradise Diggings," a name given on the arrival of Mrs. Eikerenkotter, the first and for some time the only woman in the camp. Augustus Eikerenkotter left the mines in 1850 and came to San Francisco, where he remained a year, when he settled in San Mateo county at Searsville.

In 1851 Searsville was the principal town or settlement in San Mateo county. It was the center of the redwood lumbering business. The mountainside from the summit to the valley was one great forest of giant redwoods, and there were in the vicinity of Searsville twelve sawmills changing the forest into lumber.

There were ten children in the Eikerenkotter family. The father and mother were natives of Germany.

For eight years, from 1900 to 1908, Julius Eikerenkotter was county supervisor in and for the first township of San Mateo county, and his brother, Ed Eikerenkotter, was county clerk in the early days.

The first grocery store was at the northeast corner of Grand and Maple avenues, in the building now occupied by W. L. Hickey as a plumber's shop. This first grocery was established by George Kneese, father of Henry and George Kneese. George Kneese Sr. bought two corner lots on Grand avenue. The one on which he built and conducted his grocery store he sold to August Kluegel, and Kluegel, after erecting a two-story dwelling on the easterly half of the lot, sold to the present owners, the McColgan brothers of San Francisco. The other lot, the southwest corner of Grand and Maple avenues, Mr. Kneese sold to Henry Michenfelder, who built the two-story apartment building now occupying that corner. George Kneese Sr. is still living, a resident of San Francisco.

C. A. Hooper & Co. established the first lumber yard in this city early in 1892, with Thomas E. Driscoll as superintendent, and continued in business for three years. Their lumber yard was on the land now occupied by the Southern Pacific depots. "Senator" Healy succeeded the Hooper Company in the lumber business, and during the years he conducted the place he was sole owner and manager. Out of the profits of the business Healy built the houses he still owns in this city, of which there are nearly a score. Before becoming a lumber merchant Healy was a saloon-keeper. Healy came with the crowd on a Dunn Company excursion, and on St. Patrick's Day opened his saloon, in a building that stood on the lot now occupied by Galli Bros.

Healy named his saloon "The Senate." It became a popular resort. C. L. Barnes gave the boss of the Senate the name "Senator," and the name stuck.

The first coal yard was opened by Maurice Vanderbugle and his brother-in-law, Adlestein, in 1892, on the south side of Baden avenue.

Maurice Vanderbugle conducted the first blacksmith shop in the shop first run by John Brandamp, and later by George Washington, and now occupied as a garage. Mr. Vanderbugle was also the first deputy constable, serving under Constable W. E. Wagner.

The first meat market was opened in June, 1892, in a one-story building on Grand avenue. The building and the business belonged to J. C. Sweet, who sold the property and business to William Kelly, better known as "Pop" Kelly. C. Bonalanza is the present owner and has changed the building to two stories and occupies the ground floor with his merchandise business.

In May, 1892, a frame building was erected by a San Francisco brewing company and business opened under the title of "Brewers and Ice Company," with Thomas F. Flood as agent. This pioneer concern did a wholesale business for two years, when the doors closed. Tom Flood returned to San Francisco, where he has been a member of the police force for many years.

The old Breweries building was this city's only public hall for several years, and was used for civic, social, and political meetings. When the Journeymen Butchers' Benevolent and Protective Association organized a lodge here in 1895, the building was leased by that order and took the name of "Butchers' Hall." Finally, the building with the lot on which it stood, was sold to the late M. J. Hawes, who removed the building to a new site on Baden avenue, where it was remodeled and used by Mr. Hawes as his family residence.

Among the pioneer contractors G. W. Hansbrough took a prominent place. In the latter part of 1892, Hansbrough erected the two-story frame building at the northwest corner of Miller and Cypress avenues, now known as the "Normand Hotel." He also built a frame apartment building on the south side of Grand avenue. Both buildings were completed with a heavy mortgage to the Wells-Fargo Bank. When hard times began pinching the country, Hansbrough gave up his South San Francisco holdings and went to Alaska, and the Wells-Fargo Bank took the Hansbrough block. The block was after many years sold to the late Chris Hynding, and is now the property of the Hynding estate.

"Of Such is the Kingdom of Heaven"

Inside the great brass statue of Moloch a roaring fire was built on holy days.

And into the seething arms of the pitiless god mothers hurled their screaming infants.

In the South Sea Islands, when either parent died, the children were slain and buried also, to wait the parent in the other world.

In China the girl babies were drowned; in Greece they were exposed upon the bleak and bitter mountainsides.

And even Socrates, the greatest of the Greeks, saw nothing in the practise to condemn.

Thus the ancient heathen world treated its babies.

Who was it that changed the world's thought about children? Who made them the most important citizens of the world?

Jesus of Nazareth. It was He who said "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not."

He gave them the proud privilege of being His friends.

In every age His Church has been the champion of childhood. Datheus, a Christian Bishop, founded the first orphan asylum. All the laws for the protection of children have their roots and their security in His Church.
